

Website for printing out the photos to put in your cat binder. These photos do not have to be in color.

<https://homes.bio.psu.edu/faculty/strauss/anatomy/biology29.htm>

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the address bar displaying <https://homes.bio.psu.edu/faculty/strauss/anatomy/biology29.htm>. The page content includes:

- A green 3D-style title "BIOLOGY 129" on a yellow background.
- A red title "Human Anatomy" centered below a red horizontal line.
- An "Instructor:" section with contact information for Dr. James A. Strauss.
- Two green checkmark icons followed by links to "Course Syllabus" and "Course Announcements".
- A section titled "The following links allow the user to view course specimens and dissections. Click to view:" with five links, each accompanied by a small icon: "Skeletal System", "Muscular System", "Digestive System", "Circulatory System", and "Urogenital System".
- A circular logo on the right side of the page featuring a white anatomical figure (resembling Leonardo da Vinci's Vitruvian Man) on a dark blue background with an orange border.